

Overview

In this assignment you will be writing code to detect the edges of a bitmap image in parallel (multi-threaded application). The program will generate a bitmap file with the edges. The image produced can be used in a coloring book for instance. See the pictures below for a sample of the outcome expected:

